Tools to assist you settle during the 1st 10 days in office as a female leader/worker

Thank you for taking time to work on yourself as a female leader/worker. Day 1 and 2 were helping us understand what we as leaders are capable of controlling before we can lead other people. Now day 3 is about knowing yourself. You can only be the best of your version if you know your worth.

Let's carry on doing the work it is for our own good.

Day 3 of 10: UNDERSTANDING YOUR WORTH

- First of all, find out within yourself (and be true to yourself) if you're coming in the industry as a job seeker who is going to leave and join another industry as soon as the opportunity arise or you're doing the work that your called for or the work is your passion? In that way you will not be rattled by the challenges that comes with leadership.
- You must change your mindset to a level that you understand clearly that you are enough as you are, you can do the job period. I mean that is why they hired you at the first place. Your worth is what made you hired at the first place.
- Know that you are bringing the whole table to help the employer, there's no way you can bring 50% to the table. You're a woman for God's sake. When have we ever done things half? Have you ever given birth to half of the child and say the other half you will give birth to him later because you want to see if half of the body is working first or not NO. We were created to create, nurture, help, teach and do anything that will transform lives every time. So, you must know that it is in your nature to bring 100% to that table as a woman. You don't have to practice it. It is in you.
- It is important that you know that you are on the same level as your employer you are providing a service that is required because he is unable to do that service but he has money to pay you for rendering that service. In that way no one is making another one a favour.

- You don't have to work twice as much to prove that you can do the job no, Men work once for God sakes, no one is asking them to work twice as much. That is why we have a process of firing and hiring. When you don't like what you're doing your free to resign and go, as much as if he doesn't think your doing the good job, he won't hesitate to fire you or release you to put is nicely.

Exercise 3

Knowing yourself

Find out by asking yourself or tuning into your inner self if you are performing the job that you going to leave soon or the work that your called for (Your purpose). This will help you to trust yourself and the decisions you will be making.
