To the self-leadership program for women in male dominated industries.

Coach Background

My name is Tinyiko Motileni, I am your leadership and business coach. I was a 22-years-old employee entering the Mining and Manufacturing industry. As a young black female nothing prepared me for the male dominated industry. The only thing I knew was that, now that I had completed my diploma, any job that I could get I would do my best to climb the corporate ladder.

Few years in the industry I was promoted to become a manager. That was exciting for me, until I started realizing the hardship of being in a female manager in a male dominated industry (Mining and Manufacturing specifically) from both black and white males. I then started creating wounds by not being able to stand for myself and having no one to go to for my frustrations. Having male superiors only posed a challenge to me because my complains where often taken lightly.

I stayed in the industry for 20 years + as a female leader because I believed that I was called for the work that I was doing (Production Manager) until I learned to manage the hardships of the industry and heal my wounds.

Then, I decided to create a platform where I would offer the much-needed support to female leaders/workers in working spaces especially the male dominated work spaces.

After I finished my MBL (Master of Business Leadership) qualification with UNISA (University of South Africa) I decided to followed my passion and calling of leadership and business coaching where I completed my coach training program with COMENSA (coaches and mentors of South Africa) in order to be accredited. Now I coach, mentor, write programs and books that will help females to cultivate their mind strength so that
